GIANT GERMAN ZEPPELIN OVER ATLANTIC

Today

The Big Ship Coming
J A Farrell Not Worried
C E Mitchell Is Cheerful
Faith and Works

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

YOU will learn this morning of progress made by the giant Graf Zeppelin. Its departure from Germany regardless of results in this weather slight, inaugurates real work in the commercial flying.

When this was written at 5 p m yesterday the great ship had been encountering a heavy gale above the Mediterranean making only 35 miles, a little one third of the estimated speed.

THE dirigible will not be the final practical craft for the ocean flight. Trying the gas bag steering such regardless to the wind invites trouble, while general danger from lightning.

All metal heavier than air planes of large power able to ignore waves of wind as ocean steamers ignore heavier waves of water will solve the problem.

AMONG the nations America is fifth in steel exports. France Germany Great Britain and Belgium sent us an export trade. John A. Farrell head of the United States Steel does not worry, for his one company makes more steel than all the companies of any other nation. There is comfort in that.

And whatever other foolish thing you may do, don't sell United States Steel short. Its unfilled orders the first of this month amounted to 5,625,398 tons.

CHARLES E. MITCHELL head of National City Bank biggest in America, is back from Europe cheerful. Everything is all right with American business and prosperity.

Mr Mitchell who knows about money handling billions of it and being made enormous profits for his stockholders says "there's nothing in the recession problem" to worry any one.

BONDS are cheaper than stocks, says he. But if asked to exchange stock in his bank for bonds he'd say No.

What's true of his stock is true of one other stocks, but you have to select the right ones AND DON'T GAMBLE!

THE president says faith is the nation's need.

Faith is the beginning, good work is the result.

Faith in Providence, faith in yourself in your country, in your associates. All faith is strength. But I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day: the night cometh when no man can work." Faith alone won't do. It's too easy.

JAPAN will send to Brazil 1 000 colonists each year.

Nachiro Fukuhara, head of a 50,000,000 Japanese syndicate, will direct colonization in the rich state of Para source of excellent rubber.

Already one city in Brazil is inhabited almost exclusively by Japanese.

The Japanese are kind to their children. No Japanese ever strikes a child consequently the children grow and families are big.

Grandchildren of Americans now living, may see an important branch of Asia established on the continent south of us.

That is the business of Brazil and Japan not ours.

MUSSOLINI says the Italian press is perfectly free, but it must not criticize Fascismo or his Fascists. Newspapers MAY criticize Mussolini playing, if they choose.

Mussolini remembers that Napoleon said: My government could not last two weeks if I allowed liberty to the press.

EXTRAORDINARY are Musso lini's success and good argument. He appears on the page of history, a cross between Mohammed and Marcus Aurelius and apart from his assertion that liberty is an important word we find little to criticize in his doings remembering that if Italy had not had Mussolini it would have had nearly.

ON election eve ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union all over the country will pray for an honest election, an honest count and a victory for prohibition.' That's a little late for election prayer from the human point of view. Everybody's mind is made up the day before election. Providence

MIKE GETS LIFE

Shinkman Is Convicted of Murder of Funny Face' Corry

Cleveland, Oct 12—Michael 'Mike' Life Shinkman today awaited in county jail here his transfer to the Ohio penitentiary where he has been sentenced to life imprisonment for a gangland killing last Aug 9.

Four of seven women and five men found Shinkman guilty, late yesterday, of shooting Philip 'Funny Face' Corry. Corry was shot down on an East Side street and the murderer escaped at the time. Detectives immediately named Shinkman as the slayer. Corry, they said, owed him money on a 'drug' selling transaction.

4,669 VOTERS ARE ADDED TO REGISTRATION

Second Day's Total at Marion Polls Reaches High Mark

1,131 OVER FIRST DAY

Aggregate Preceding Election Expected To Establish New Record

Registration figures were given a boost here yesterday when 4 669 persons went to the polls to make themselves eligible to vote at the November election. The registration yesterday was 1 131 higher than the figures for the first day Thursday of last week. On the first day the registration was 3 538.

With figures for the first two days as a basis election board officials estimated that the total registration this year would be the highest in the history of the city. The get out the vote campaign conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Marion Central Labor Union, Bird McGinnis Post of the American Legion and milk dealers of the city and newspaper publicity is apparently having the desired effect in getting Marion voters to the polls to register early.

Two Day Total

The total registration for the first two days is 8 207. This figure is only 4 862 below the total registration for 1924 records show. Records also show that on the last two days of registration four years ago 4 887 persons went to the polls.

Yesterday's registration exceeded the second day's total four years ago by 1 099. Total for the first day this year however fell short of the corresponding day four years ago by 481.

Leads City

Precinct D of the sixth ward registered more voters than any other precinct in the city yesterday when 17 persons registered. This precinct registered 85 a week ago. All voting places in the city were open from 8 until 2 and from 4 until 9 o'clock. The majority of those registering yesterday went to the polls during the evening hours, precinct officials said today.

The 5 000 or more voters who have not registered will have two more opportunities to make themselves eligible to vote. The next registration day will be Oct 19. The last day will be Oct. 20.

SEEK COURT REVERSAL IN HOPPE MURDER CASE

Toledo Oct 12—Charging that the court considered testimony showing insanity only as a warrant for showing mercy rather than as a defense Leonard I Rush and Elton H Young, trial attorneys for Charles (Stanley) Hoppe, today filed a petition in error in the court of appeals by which they seek a reversal of the judgment of the common pleas court where Hoppe was tried and convicted of first degree murder of Dorothy Stelczowski, his seven year old consin by marriage.

*Hoppe is now in Ohio State pen*itentiary at Columbus under sentence of death in the electric chair on Oct 26.

Socialist Leader, Here Today, Pictures Two Old Parties as "Campaign Twins"

BY HARRY S ELLIOTT
Marion Star Staff Writer

Tonight Norman Thomas of New York City, Socialist nominee for president, will speak to an audience in Central Junior high school building where he concluded his public school education in 1901. It was in June of that year that Thomas received his diploma as a graduate of Marion high school.

This morning the writer, a member of the high school class of 1902 saw Thomas for the first time in 27 years. He found the presidential nominee changed little in facial expression and general physical characteristics and also found evidence of the same exceptional mental qualities which made Thomas a top notch student in high school years.

Those mental attainments, however, have been greatly broadened and strengthened by years of activity in public life and welfare work.

School Days Recalled

I was never personally acquainted with Thomas while he attended school here probably being denied the opportunity because of his traditional superiority as an "upper classman." Distinctly, though, I recall him in the school building halls and on the school grounds as an unusually tall and rather frail youth who was regarded as a "real fellow" although a minister's son.

Shortly after his arrival in Marion this morning from Pittsburgh where he addressed an audience at Carnegie hall last night I had the pleasure of interviewing Thomas in his room at the Harding Hotel. Passing years have placed a thin of white in his hair and also some from the center of his head. He is considerably heavier than in earlier life but otherwise presents much the same appearance as the youth I saw practically every day at the local high school 27 years ago.

Thomas discusses governmental

HOME FINANCE EXPLAINED BY MRS. CRABTREE

Valuable Budget Ideas Given Women at Cooking School

Oh weary mothers rolling dough,
Don't you wish that food would grow?
How very happy we would be
With a cooky bush and a doughnut tree.

In the above words Mrs Edna Rapks Crabtree the home economics expert in charge of The Marion Star cooking school no doubt expressed the sentiment of the majority of Marion housewives.

While neither a cooky bush nor a doughnut tree Mrs. Crabtree very efficiently does her bit in lessening the worries of Marion wives and mothers with her cooking lessons the last of which was to be given at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Star auditorium on the subject, 'A New Day.'

The cooking demonstration yesterday was preceded by a short talk on the subject, Jungling the Income' in which Mrs. Crabtree offered no end of valuable suggestions for a budget for the perplexed little housewife having difficulty in 'making ends meet.'

Nursery Family Larger

Although attendance at the school had not noticeably increased over Wednesday, a number of young sters accommodated in the nursery increased from 72 to 75.

There are, principally, two reasons for budgeting, Mrs Crabtree said in opening her lecture the first to obtain a permanent record for what is required and second, to enable one to systematically make plans for future needs. In old If nobody has saved somebody has got to earn' Mrs Crabtree also said. The day of accounting is always sure to arrive.

Anything husband and wife can do together further cement the marriage bond,' Mrs Crabtree said, and a budget as a thin the whole family can and must work together on to insure its success. It is not irksome but a thing that can be made into an interesting game.

Insurance Necessary

As in the other fails of home life for budgeting, we must first have a plan, must do as early as possible prepared to meet the expenses of life in the manner in which our particular income permits. The plan seldom works perfectly the first month—or the second—it must be worked out into a system extending over a length period of time. By comparing results from month to month and arranging to meet additional expenses

HICKMAN DOWNCAST

Calls to Join Fellow Prisoners During Recreation Hour

San Quentin Prison, Cal, Oct 12—*With the spectre of death on the gal*lows looming in the offing, William I Heard Hickman condemned to die on Oct 19 for the murder of Marion Parker, Los Angeles school girl, was gloomy and downcast in his cell in condemned row here today.

Ordinarily Hickman is laughed and joked with his fellow prisoners during the recreation hour, but yesterday he would have nothing to do with his companions. He declined to join them in the usual game of dominoes, and he kept to himself during the time allotted the prisoners for games and exercise.

PICK DAYTON FOR 1929 WELFARE CONFERENCE

Columbus Oct 12—With the election of officers, and the selection of Dayton for the meeting site of 1929, the thirty eighth annual convention of the Ohio Welfare Conference stood adjourned here today, having been host to the largest number of representatives to attend an Ohio Welfare Conference since 1924.

Officers elected include Miss Belle Greve superintendent of Ohio State division of Charities, Columbus, president, Otto A. Davis, Cincinnati, first vice president, Fred T. Hubbit, Columbus, second vice president, and H H Sharer, Columbus, secretary. The executive committee will select a treasurer in November.

LISTS FEDERATION AS NON-PARTISAN

Club Women Indorse No Candidates, State President Says

'The Ohio Federation of Women's clubs is not indorsing certain nor any candidates' is the statement of Mrs W S Harder, this city, president of the organization.

The statement was forthcoming following the publicity given reports that the organization is indorsing certain candidates for offices in Ohio.

'The Ohio Federation of Women's clubs is absolutely non partisan and has no interest in the candidacy of any particular person. While the federation assumes no responsibility for the *action of its members as in*dividuals, it can be authoritatively stated no indorsement of any candidate for office ever has been or will be made by the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs. The federation is intensely interested in good citizenship and good government but indorses principles only and not persons,' Mrs Harder declares.

Announcement has been made of a *convention in the dates for the Cen*tral District conference to be held at Zanesville which will be Nov 22 and 23 instead of Oct 22 and 23 as has been announced.

MARDI GRAS TO BE ONE-NIGHT EVENT

Definite Plans Made for West Center st Dedication on Oct. 31

Definite arrangements have been made for the mardi gras celebration which will dedicate West Center st with its new widened paving and its modern electric lighting system.

The mardi gras will take place the night of Oct 31 and the outstanding feature is to be a spectacular street parade, according to plans fixed by the committee representing the West Center Street Improvement Association. Plans were made by the committee at a meeting yesterday at Hotel Harding. Arrangements for floats for the celebration were made at another session of the committee held today.

Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes worn by participants in the parade and also for bands entered by the committee states.

According to tentative plans, the parade will be on Center st from Main st to the railroads. It is pos*sible that there may be a few bits* of speeches, but no decision has been reached on that point.

The intention is to make it a gala event throughout, with plenty of fireworks and real ghostly colorful costumes and to dispense with all formality.

SOUTH STILL SOLID, BELIEF OF GOV. SMITH

Democratic Nominee Moves Into Tennessee After Warm Receptions

BY GEORGE R HOLMES,
Marion Star Staff Writer

Lurched in the South with Governor Smith Oct 12—Governor Smith left the solid south today firm in the belief that it is still solid.

Glowing from the warmth of his reception in Virginia and North Carolina where bear stories of Democratic disaffection have abounded since the Houston convention, the Democratic nominee moved over into Tennessee today. Tennessee is one the border states that the Republicans have claimed for their own this year particularly so since Herbert Hoover came down here last week and addressed a throng of some 10 000 at Elizabethton.

The home state of Andrew Jackson has a mottled political history. Only once since reconstruction days have the 12 electoral votes of Tennessee been cast for a Republican presidential candidate. That was in 1920 when Harding carried it by a scant 13,000, after vigorously campaigning the state. But it has frequently happened in that same span of years that Tennessee has elected Republican governors, and this spotted history, coupled with the known Democratic disaffection this year over the religious and prohibition issues, has promoted this year a good deal of Republican confidence.

Still Democratic, Claim

It is the belief of Democratic leaders of the state however, that Tennessee will still is Democratic, and will be so revealed on Nov 6.

Gov Smith will spend all of today in Tennessee. His special train crossed the Tennessee border and passed through Knoxville early this morning, enroute to Chattanooga where a stop of an hour is scheduled. Just before noon From Chattanooga

HOOVER DEFENDED BY SMITH MANAGER

Raskob Declares There Is No Truth in Oil Land Leases Story

New York, Oct 12—Chairman John J Raskob of the Democratic National committee today stood as defender of Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential candidate against attacks of U S Senator Henry C Hansbrough of North Dakota who connected Hoover with oil land leases in Columbia.

'I know there is absolutely no truth,' said Raskob 'in this charge against Hoover.' We telegraphed Hansbrough the charge was not true and asked that he omit it from his *speech (at Minneapolis on Wednes*day). Perhaps the telegram did not reach the senator.

*It is thoroughly improper to at*tack the character of men like Smith and Hoover. It is politics to attack a man's record or views on certain issues but it is low and when a presidential candidate must be subjected to lies and slander."

AUTO WRECK VICTIM DIES AT HOSPITAL

Gerald White Succumbs Following Stolen Car Escapade

COMPANION IN COURT

James Ritter, Only Slightly Injured, Bound Over on Theft Charge

Shock and loss of blood from injuries sustained Wednesday night when he drove a stolen automobile into a Hocking Valley freight train at the Garden City pk crossing caused the death of Gerald L White 20, of 159 Scioto st at 1 15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at City hospital.

White suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and internal injuries.

The accident occurred when White drove the car into the moving train at an estimated speed of 50 miles an hour.

James Ritter companion of White in the accident, who escaped without serious injury, pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft when arraigned before Municipal Judge W H Martin this morning. He insisted that he is unable to drive and therefore could not be guilty of stealing an automobile.

Both preliminary and second hearings were held today and Ritter was bound over to the grand jury with bond set at $2,000. The car in which the two were riding, a Buick coupe is the property of Walter W Shumaker 587 North Main st and had been stolen from its parking place on Mill st shortly before the collision occurred.

In their flight from a city patrol man, who pursued them in a Studebaker roadster belonging to John Dugan the pair failed to see the freight train being switched across the Garden City pk crossing, according to Ritter's account of the accident to officials this morning.

SHIP'S ROUTE WILL TAKE IT OVER BERMUDA

Sighted Over Madeira Islands at 8:35 O'Clock, Marion Time, Today

WILL BE DELAYED

Air Liner May Not Reach U. S. Until Sunday Night or Monday

By International News Service

Veering southward to avoid storms, the mighty German super-dirigible Graf Zeppelin, bound from Friedrichshafen for Lakehurst, N. J., on her initial transoceanic voyage with passengers and mails, is out over the Atlantic today following a route which will probably take her over Bermuda.

The British tank ship Gymeric wireless to that it had sighted the airship well off the Spanish Moroccan coast and a little later the Western Union Cable Co received a report that the glantress had passed over the Madeira Islands at 1 15 o'clock this afternoon Greenwich mean time, or 8 15 a m, Marion time.

The dirigible encountered part fine weather at Madeira and it was believed that it would be assisted all the way across to Bermuda by favorable tail winds.

Will Be Delayed

By turning southward beyond the southern steamer lane the arrival of the Zeppelin will be delayed. It may not reach Lakehurst until Sunday night or Monday morning, all depending upon the nature of the weather encountered after reaching the western side of the Atlantic.

Passing over Gibraltar at midnight, eastern standard time, the giantress left the Spanish coast an hour and 40 minutes later and headed southwestward along the Spanish Moroccan coast.

Ships in the vicinity reported fine, clear weather with light winds. Flying conditions were called ideal.

While passing Gibraltar the ship exchanged code messages with the Gibraltar station. For long periods

Crowds Biggest Worry at Field

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Oct 12—Preparations to welcome the Graf Zeppelin, world's largest dirigible, which is soaring from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst with 60 persons aboard, went forward with quiet efficiency here today while into nearby towns streamed the advance guard of the many thousands of people coming to witness the "spectacle of the century."

The prospective crowds, not the handling of the Zeppelin when it arrives is what is causing concern among officials. They explain that *the authorities no difficulty in hand*ling the great air liner it is the hangar but they are taking extra precautions to keep the spectators within bounds.

The regular ground crew of 270 men will be augmented by 180 sailors from the Brooklyn navy yard and these 450 men will be ample to handle the Graf Zeppelin once it lands.

Special police precautions are being taken, however, to maintain order among the thousands of visitors eager for a close up of the zeppelin. Fifty five marines have been assigned to cooperate with the state police in patrolling the highways and keeping the throng back of an area that will be roped off shortly before the air ship arrives. Automobiles will not be allowed to park within half a mile of the hangar. Only cars bearing the label 'official' will be allowed past the dead line.

ON THE Streets of Marion

WITH STAR STAFF

HIS FIRST VOTE

Back in 1880, politics were taken more seriously than they are now, according to Henry Strelitz, 73, retired merchant of Marion, whom a representative of The Star interviewed last week for the purpose of obtaining information relative to the early history of the city and years. During the course of the interview Mr Strelitz told the following story

I was 21 in 1880. I had always celebrated my birthday on Nov 7, which was election day that year. When I went to vote some one inquired that I had been born after mid night Nov 7 and I was told not to vote until the next day and was ineligible to vote.

For a short time it was quite an issue and a great deal of argument pro and con resulted but on the testimony of reliable witnesses I was finally allowed to cast my first ballot.

PERSISTENT

Once twice three times four, five six times and still the cigar lighter refused to work. The operator looked at it ruefully and tried again. Seven, eight, nine ten times and still no flame appears! Eleven—success! But the flame went out before the cigar was lighted.

Twelve thirteen fourteen fifteen times and then it burst into flame and I continued to burn until the cigar was properly lighted.

A box of matches was handed to the owner of the lighter but he refused and refused the offer. Six boxes seconds and again a flame. And at last it burned long enough to let the cigar drawing properly.

This little comedy was enacted at the speakers table at the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday noon.

DEFT HANDS

"Spiritualism is all the bunk," according to Carl Reichl magician on the bill at the Palace theater the first part of last week.

"You don't believe in it, do you," he asked doubtfully. "We magicians know that there is no such thing as magic. It's all a case of the hand is quicker than the eye," he went on.

"A great deal of false information has come into this country from the East, India in particular, about the wonderful things done by Oriental magicians. Some of our magicians have gone over there to find these tricks and bring them to this country. They have failed to learn anything new from the Orientals. The marvelous tricks attributed to them apparently were made out of whole cloth they are absolutely false. In fact, our magicians were able to perform tricks that the oriental royalty believed to be genuine 'magic.' Reichl consists of

LIVE IN MEMORY

"Good but not forgotten," might well be cut into a granite slab and set up beside Marion's 10 trolley cars as they stand on the siding of the Scioto power plant of the Ohio Public Service Co. at North Main.

When the first group of four cars was taken out to Scioto, three automobiles filled with local residents followed them and saw them safely on their last journey through the streets of Marion.

Undoubtedly the little groups of former street car enthusiasts keep standing about the streets this week and thinking of the good days of swinging the controls and stamping out the bell cord as they "rode" their favorites through the city of yore.

DECEPTIVE DOG

Willy thought it was really exclaimed one of the more mature matrons of Marion as she rose from petting the pinscher girls Boston terrier recently on the floor of the waiting room of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. office on West Center st., Wednesday afternoon.

"My neighbor has a dog that looks almost exactly like that and I was certain that it was alive and not an imitation.

DEPUTY WARDEN IS TO RESUME DUTIES

Blosser Pleads Guilty to Disorderly Charge and Pays $10 Fine

Columbus City, Oct. 12—H. C. Blosser, deputy warden at Ohio State penitentiary brick plant here, whose office of as yet undetermined origin was destroyed Monday destroyed the dormitory with a resultant loss of 15 cots, went to resume his duties at the plant today following a fine of $10 imposed on him on his plea of guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct preferred against him in the court of Mayor J. P. Rochester at Dover, O., last night.

Blosser pleaded guilty to the disorderly charge after an original charge of drunkenness against him had been withdrawn. The initial affidavit filed against the deputy warden had charged him with drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the night previous to the dormitory fire and had aroused widespread discussion as to whether the charge was brought in connection with the fire. Blosser himself had characterized the charge as motivated by a desire on the part of some persons to ruin "notoriety" as a result of the brick plant blaze.

EVERYTHING HAD FAILED, KONJOLA CAME TO RESCUE

Spent $200 in Vain Search For Relief—Made Well Again by Master Medicine

MRS. DAISY SAMBORY

Wonderful are the successes of Konjola where everything has failed; where hope has been abandoned; where the future looks dark for those afflicted with stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles. Read the remarkable experience of Mrs. Daisy Sambory, 814 O'Brien street, Toledo, Ohio. Vibrant with health regained, Mrs. Sambory said:

"Konjola came into my pain-stricken life when I feared my case was hopeless. My kidneys and liver were deeply affected, and grew worse despite many forms of treatment. At night I had to rise five or six times. My liver was sluggish. Severe dizzy spells came on so suddenly that I feared to leave my home. I had spent more than $200 seeking medical help, but all in vain. At this point in my distress I resolved to try Konjola. Today I am well, entirely freed from all my ailments. Pains have vanished, sleep is easy, complexion clear, kidneys and bowels in splendid condition. I am in better health, far better than I have been for ten years. How I wish that all who endure the torments that I did, would profit by this wonderful experience, and give Konjola the chance to make them well again like it did me."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.—Adv.

Parents To Know Results of O. S. U. Classroom Work

Marion Star Barrau
Ohio State University

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—In order that parents and guardians might know just what progress their sons, daughters and wards are making in school, officials of Ohio State university are planning to send the results of classroom work of freshmen students to their homes within the next month, it was learned at the university recently.

The reports sent to the parents concerning the work of their offspring in the university will resemble the grade cards given monthly to the students of elementary grades and high schools. The reports may also in some instances include the advisability of keeping the student in school.

Report First Year

The plan of advising parents of the students ability in keeping up with the remainder of the class is confined only to members of the freshmen class. Having passed the first year successfully the students are left to make the best of their scholastic standing in the remaining years.

Despite the fact that activities of Freshmen Week are at an end and yearlings have settled down to the daily routine of classes, the first year students will continue to have personal contact with faculty members, according to plans of university officials.

The burden of aiding the 5,000 freshmen students in their personal difficulties of arranging classes and other questions rests upon the five new junior college deans and the dean of women. There are approximately 1,500 out-of-town men students, 700 from Columbus and 800 women students in the freshmen class.

Two seasons that invariably wear their welcome out—summer and winter.

IS HONOR GUEST

The following friends were guests at a surprise Monday evening for Mrs. Frank Warwick of Marion, formerly Miss Ethel Bollinger, of Delmark; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bollinger, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bollinger, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bollinger and son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Bollinger and children, Kenneth and Helen, Delmar; Mrs. Ralph Lee, Mt. Gilead; Mrs. Clara Coulter, Cardington; Mr. and Mrs. Harley Drury, South Canaan. Refreshments and music and games were enjoyed.

Nebraska reported temperatures in the nineties, Wednesday. Nebraska is as erratic in its weather as it is in its politics.

A heavy snowfall was experienced in the Saskatchewan, Wednesday. Let's see. Do we not import a lot of our fall and winter weather from up that way?

Two of Chicago's most notorious gang leaders have become golf addicts. Still, it's only fair to admit that they might have gone the same course, even had they not fallen into evil associations.

Henry Leimback, a farmer residing near Elyria, raised a potato crop which averaged 503.3 bushels to the acre. No, Geraldine. Henry isn't worrying to any extent over the outcome of the campaign for farm relief.

Carbaly, the new metal made from tungsten, carbide, and cobalt, will cut the hardest steel and drill smooth holes through glass and porcelain, but what the man who uses an old-fashioned razor will probably want to know is if it will pull tacks.

It has been developed that one Philadelphia policeman, since he retired from the force in March, 1926, to become a cafe proprietor, has deposited in four of the city's banks a total of $356,594. We confess that we are surprised that so much wealth could be accumulated in the cafe business in so short a time.

The latest top price for a seat on the New York stock exchange is $160,000. Who knows? Maybe it is the high overhead of their brokers which is responsible for the poor returns some of our speculative friends are getting on their investments.

The leaders of both the Nicaraguan political parties have expressed complete satisfaction with the American supervision of the election to be held in Nacaragua November 4 and the recently-concluded series of five registration days, but even at that we may anticipate a continuation of the "anti-imperialism" braying.

The thirteen British editors at present touring our country say that they are amazed by its tall buildings, fine homes, well-dressed citizens, innumerable motor cars and other visible evidences of its wealth. To be downright honest about the thing, so are the most of us.

The Unskilled and Charlatans.

Much newspaper space is being given to the warning, uttered before the 1,500 doctors in attendance at the third annual clinical congress of the American College of Physical Therapy, in session in Chicago, that grave danger lurks in the treatment of disease with light, heat and electricity by other than specialists in the use of such methods.

Possibly emphasis has been placed upon the warning owing to the fact that it was issued by two doctors who are said to be among the world's greatest authorities on the subject—Dr. Alfred R. Friel, of London, and Dr. Carl Sonne, of Copenhagen. Both these doctors were at one in making the warning the dominant note of the opening session of the congress. They said that a little knowledge about the use of light, heat and electricity in the treatment of malignant diseases is a dangerous thing; that these agencies are powerful for healing and health when properly used, but often, in unskilled or charlatan hands, they may become agencies of death.

"Treatment with light is yet in its infancy," Dr. Sonne said. "We know now that certain applications of light and heat and certain wave lengths of ultra-violet rays accomplish certain effects. But we do not yet know enough about light to determine whether it is the luminous, the dark heat rays known as infra-red, or the ultra-violet rays which accomplish certain ends. Nor do we know whether it may not be a combination of all three."

And he added: "The fact that we who have been experimenting for years, for years cautiously feeling our way, is plain evidence that only specially skilled and trained hands should handle these agencies."

Dr. Friel specializes in galvanism, which he explained as "a specially meant treatment by passing a continuous current of electricity through the patient's tissues."

"The dosage," continued Dr. Friel, "is regulated by graduating the strength of the current and diminishing the length of time it is applied. This from of treatment is of particular use in local rather than general affections."

The doctor added that this electric treatment must be handled skillfully and when used by experienced men, it is highly efficacious in curing stiff joints, rheumatism, and neuritis and other nerve troubles.

"In most remedies," the doctor continued, "there is a danger of harm resulting from improper and unskilful use. Treatment by galvanism is no exception."

Undoubtedly both doctors are right. One unskilled in healing can appreciate the fact that there is much to be learned on the subject just as there is much to be learned on almost every subject. But it is hard to understand why so much emphasis is being given the matter. Is not what they have to say regarding the treatment of disease by light, heat and electricity equally true in the realm of medicine and of surgery? Is there not equal danger, if not far greater, in the treatment of disease by the unskilled and charlatans in the practice in medicine and surgery?

As a matter of fact, the unskilled and the fakers are menaces in any profession, in any industrial or commercial enterprise, in any occupation. They may not cause physical death, but their unskilled efforts frequently lead to economic. The warning against them should be just as pronounced as that voiced by the two European experts against the unskilled and the charlatans in the use of the three agencies mentioned.

Resident Commissioner Arthur Grimble of the Gilbert and Ellice Islands colony made the statement in his latest report to the British government that "clothes covering bodies which once went naked and unconscious, have contributed to the native's moral decadence by stimulating curiosities which never before existed." It may be well to remember that there was sin in the world when human raiment consisted of a fig leaf, but in any event there's no occasion for worry over the evil effects of the clothing the girls up here are wearing; it leaves mighty little for the stimulation of curiosity.

In Quest of Husbands.

We have been wondering a bit whether or no Miss Helen Davis and Mrs. Anna Howe have yet found the ideal husbands they have been seeking. Originally, there were three in the party which started from Washington by motor with the announced intention of going clear to the Pacific coast, if necessary, in their husband quest, but the withdrawal of Mrs. Vivian Frederick was announced in Columbus, Tuesday. She told reporters that she had signed up for the transcontinental trip, but at the time of so doing had not anticipated the publicity their venture would attract—a somewhat surprising statement in view of the fact that the originator of the plan, Miss Davis, manifestly considers the publicity attained something of an asset looking to the accomplishment of the purpose of the trip.

Just before leaving, Miss Davis told Washington reporters that she had conceived the idea of such an expedition after she had lost her own money and all of her brother's in real estate speculation, and she proceeded to explain that her thirty-two years had given her very definite ideas of the ideal husband, to which the man she hopes to marry must conform.

In the first place he must be neither thin nor fat. "About medium," is the way Miss Davis put it. He can smoke and even drink a little, provided he can do so and "still retain his good nature."

"Of course," Miss Davis said, "he must have a little money, say a yearly income of not less than $10,000. He must also be willing to advance $5,000 for my brother's education." One other stipulation she makes is that he must be between forty and fifty-five years old.

Miss Davis admitted that her ideal probably was an exceptional man, but declared she would not be satisfied with an ordinary husband.

"I want an exception, and I am going to scour the country for him. I have had many opportunities to marry, but the right one is yet to be found."

Miss Davis said she has received letters from more than 500 men who hoped they might measure up to her specifications.

"Only a few of these were from lovesick wealthlings," she asserted, "most of them having a sincere ring."

Miss Davis intimated the route of the expedition has been planned so that it will be possible to visit places from which they have received letters.

"Time," she declared, "is no object. Each of us is determined to get a husband and we propose to keep right on hunting until we find the right one."

Now here's a woman who wants a husband and is frank in admitting that she does. True, that $5,000 proposition for the education of her brother has more of the earmarks of business than of romance, but any man capable of meeting her ideals probably will not object to a little thing like that. If he should, let him pass Miss Davis up for her companion, who, so far as known, hasn't any encumbrances calling for a departure from the general specifications.

It's going to be a burning shame if the men of the Middle West between the ages of forty and fifty-five, who have incomes of $10,000 or over, possess pleasing dispositions and are not barred from marriage by some legal impediment, let these young women chase all the way out to the Pacific slope to realize their ambitions. Common gallantry should impel them to arise as one man and cry out: "Take me!"

After battering down the doors of a Greek church over possession of which two factions of the congregation have been warring, the police of Lowell, Massachusetts, found inside a veritable arsenal. Happily, the Lowell case can not be held to typify the generally-accepted idea of Christianity.

Three thousand cans of opium, estimated to be worth $1,500,000, were found where they had been hidden away by Chinese members of the crew on the Dollar liner, President Harrison. If the Dollar people are forced to pay a fine of $600,000, to which they are said to be liable, "Cappy Ricks" will have to do some tall hustling to make good the loss.

IT'S IN THE AIR.

Far Safer To Keep Thin.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Somewhere, recently, I read: "Nowadays a girl is never fat. She is just 'overemphasized.'"

We don't like to be told we are fat, do we? I'm not so sure either that we would be pleased to have the other word, overemphasized, applied to our ever-increasing weight.

But no matter what we call it, what are we going to do about it?

It is not a good thing to take on too much weight. In terms of health, it is a bad thing. Life is burdened and even shortened by it.

On several occasions I have told you of the investigation made by a group of life insurance companies. It was the conclusion of this committee that a man fifty years of age who is fifty pounds overweight has a lessened expectation of life of fifty per cent. Measured in such terms, being overweight is pretty serious business.

But if you actually are too fleshy, what can be done about it? That is a question I am asked many times every week.

While writing this I recall the accounts of discoveries made by Roy Chapman Andrews and Walter Granger. In Mongolia they found fossil remains of a monster "big as the Woolworth building."

"The beast lived on the fat of the land," said Mr. Granger. "It grew larger and larger with each generation, until after a million years it became so roly-poly that it could no longer navigate." The following sentence struck me forcibly, "It finally gave up the ghost, having eaten itself out of existence because it was too enormous for an earthly existence."

Now, fat ones, don't get mad too soon. I shall not even intimate that you are eating yourselves out of existence.

In the next place, I do not favor extreme dieting and the starvation means which are followed by many in their endeavors to cut down flesh. Serious impairment of health may result from extreme and long-continued practice of this sort.

Let me explain why this is true: A person, especially a woman, who has been fleshy a long time has accumulated in the abdomen and pelvis very considerable deposits of fat. The intestines and pelvic organs have adapted themselves to this condition, so much so, indeed, that they are supported and kept in position by the aid of the fat.

You can see that the sudden removal of these deposits of fat may result in the dropping or displacement of one or more of these organs. Physical disabilities are liable to result.

Because of these facts, I urge you not to resort to violent methods of fat reduction. Correction of manifest errors in eating should not be neglected, of course. But I beg of you not to "take off twenty pounds in a month" and similar reductions founded on speedy methods of getting rid of surplus weight.

There can be no doubt that overeating and undereXercising are responsible in most instances of overweight. If you are guilty of either, reform your habits, but do it sensibly and gradually.

It is far better to keep thin than to get thin. If you find your weight is steadily increasing, find out why and be governed accordingly.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

C. W. A. Q—What is the cause of me being so sleepy around supper time? Sometimes my stomach aches as if I were hungry although I have had plenty to eat.

A—This conditions is probably due to intoxication caused by improper elimination in the system. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. M. Q—What causes my heart to beat rapidly at times? I have gas on my stomach and have been troubled for years with constipation.

A—It is possible that your heart condition is due to indigestion. However, it might be wise to have your family doctor examine your heart. By proper dieting such annoyances as gases and constipation may be corrected. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Editorial Comment.

A SHAMEFUL NEGLECT OF DUTY.

A holocaust at a penal institution at Junction City, Ohio, has caused the death of at least fifteen prisoners. The fire, which started in the night, destroyed the wooden dormitory where 215 inmates were sleeping and it is miraculous that a far greater number did not perish. Investigation indicates that the blaze originated in defective electric wiring, though at first it was suspected that the fire was the work of incendiaries, in aid of a general jail delivery.

This establishment was the sleeping quarters of a state-owned brick plant, worked by convicts. It was a humble structure, a wooden frame with a corrugated iron covering, wholly unsuitable for the custody of prisoners and in fact for the accommodation of any group of human-beings. A heavy responsibility rests upon state authorities for permitting the use of such a building, and it is to be hoped that the investigation that is now in progress will result in a clearance of all such establishments, not only in Ohio, but elsewhere.

This is Fire Prevention week in the United States, so proclaimed by the president. Tomorrow is the anniversary of the great Chicago fire of fifty-seven years ago. This annual observance is designed to arouse the people to the importance and necessity of greater precautions against devastation by fire, yet year after year this stimulation of concern for security passes without directing remedial attention to conditions that are directly under public control making for frightful losses of life.

A state or a municipal institution that invites disaster as did this penal establishment in Ohio is a shameful reproach upon the community, great or small, that tolerates it. States and cities make fire regulations to govern business establishments and householders, holding them rigidly to account for infractions and evasions. Yet the themselves, perhaps through negligence or parsimony of appropriations, break the rules and only remedy their errors after disaster occurs.

When the state takes custody of the person of an individual for a breach of the laws and makes him a prisoner in punishment, it assumes the responsibility for his safety. Yet in numberless instances it houses him in fire-inviting, disease breeding quarters, that would under private ownership be condemned as unfit and unsafe. This is an outrageous assumption of liability and neglect of the plainest duty. The Ohio fire is a case in point. The men housed in the flimsy shack that constituted the dormitory of the institution were powerless to protest and to secure more suitable quarters. They were regarded as men without rights. They were slaughtered through the state's neglect and indifference. This example of heartless incapacity to fulfill the obligation which the state assumes when it takes possession of the person of a prisoner should shock the country to the point of the adoption of a better method of carrying out the law which imposes penalties upon those who break it.—Washington Star, October 9.

"WIRE-TAPPING" IN COURT.

The refusal of the supreme court to review its five-to-four decision that evidence obtained by wire tapping is admissible in a federal court was to be expected. The majority of the court was not likely to reverse itself between June and October, when its interpretation of the constitutional point raised in the case was quite as defensible as the interpretation placed on it by the dissenting justices. Counsel for the appellants sought to extend the freedom from "unreasonable searches and seizures" guaranteed by the fourth amendment to the persons, effects and houses of the citizenry, to telephone wires. Their contention, which assumed the probability that if telephones had been in common use in 1791, wiretapping would have been included in the amendment, was supported by four of the supreme court justices. This contention disregarded the fact that a telephone wire is in a sense a common carrier and not the personal property of those who purchase the service it provides.

The majority opinion of the court left that it had no power to bar from courts of the United States evidence that had been constitutionally, although unethically, obtained; but it suggested that the power might be given it by congressional legislation declaring such evidence to be inadmissible. Acting on this suggestion, Congressman McLeod of this district has drafted a bill outlawing evidence obtained by wiretapping or listening in on private telephone conversations, and will introduce it at the next session of congress. The enactment of this bill would make it possible for federal courts to exclude a class of evidence unethically obtained, and would free the government of the suspicion of being party to what Justice Holmes characterized as "a dirty business."—Detroit Free Press.

The Lunar Runaway.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Kindly explain why the moon does not rotate on it's axis when all other planets do. To what original occurrence is this phenomenon due?—Mr. Werbow, New York."

The moon does rotate on its axis, but it appears not to rotate because it makes only one axial in going once around the earth, i. e., in a lunar month, so that it keeps always the same face toward the earth. What we have to account for is the slowing down of its rate of rotation, for it is probable that the moon once rotated much more rapidly. The explanation involves one of the most remarkable principles of action invoked in astronomy, viz, the effects of "tidal friction."

For a complete demonstration one must have recourse to abstruse mathematical physics, but the gist of the matter may be easily understood by a simple consideration of the forces concerned.

It may be remarked that these forces are shortening the time of the earth's rotation also, but at so slow a rate that the calculated amount is only about one-thousandth of a second in a hundred years!

Let us first consider the effect of tidal friction on the rotation of the earth. The principal tide-producer is the attraction of the moon on the water of the oceans. The force that raises the tide is directed toward the moon. The moon travels around the earth once in about a month, but the earth in the meantime rotates twenty-one times on its axis turning in the same direction in which the moon revolves around it. Owing to this the tide—being held in leash by the moon—sweeps westward over the earth, and inevitably a certain degree of friction occurs between the water and the solid crust. This friction is mainly manifested where the tidal waves encounter the shores of the continents.

But the moon has no oceans—though it may perhaps have had some in the remote past—and you may reasonably ask: "How can the moon have had its rotation almost destroyed by tidal friction while the earth is so very slightly affected by the same cause?"

To say nothing of the fact that the earth's attraction would have produced immensely greater tides upon the moon when, and if, it had oceans, than the moon could ever produce upon the earth, we have only to consider that when the moon was in a semi-solid state the tidal force strongly affected its whole mass and drew it into a slightly elliptical form, the result being to give the earth's tidal attraction an increased mechanical advantage and so to hasten the destruction of the rotational momentum.

There is an "astronomical romance" associated with this subject, for calculation shows that, working backward, an epoch can be discerned when the moon was probably separated from the earth and then driven by the interplay of certain forces arising from tidal friction, step by step, to its present distance from the earth, its rotation being at the same time gradually slowed down. The same calculation carried forward from the present indicates that the earth's day will gradually grow longer, while the moon's distance will increase, and at last both earth and moon will each keep the same face always turned toward its companion. After that, avers the same mathematics, the terrestrial day will become actually longer than the month, whereupon the moon will begin to return to its mother earth and may once more rest in the maternal bosom—unless, as Jeffreys has calculated it, it is torn to pieces when it once more approaches its deserted parent and ends its career by surrounding the earth with a ring of meteors—a sort of crown, or garland, of filial repentance.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

People of Madagascar..

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Continuing the discussion of the peoples who inhabit the great island of Madagascar. In a previous article we learned that the natives were divided into three distinct groups—the Antemorina, or Hova; the Sakalava and the Mahafaly.

Each of these groups is composed of one or more tribes and they differ greatly in habits, customs and industries.

The first group, the Autemerina, or Hova, are probably the most intelligent and cultured and in addition they are the best farmers on the island. They are also the fairest in complexion.

The Sakalava are darker in complexion than the Hova, and this group is divided into two tribes, each of which follow totally different industries. The members of the Masikoro tribe devote themselves entirely to hunting and are also noted as great warriors. The Vezo tribe, of the Sakalava group, follow the sea exclusively and are famous as fishermen. The members of the entire group are distinguished by their dark skins and long kinky hair.

The Mahafaly, a war-like people, compose the third group. Two tribes are members of this third group, the Betsileo and the Malagasy. The members of the former tribe are almost exclusively industrialists and are extremely skilful workers in iron.

The Malagasy are probably the most interesting of all the natives who inhabit the island. Being quick to imitate they have absorbed much of western civilization and have been quick to learn to read and write. Their women, too, are far more advanced than those of the other tribes, having a keen sense of their own dignity and worth.—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

New York, Oct. 12—Thought while strolling: What's become of Gertrude Ederle? She has given up flying? Wish some one would open a cafe where they wouldn't serve the menu after you order. Most colored are the tourists who buy a flivver and wear it.

Corse Payton, who styles himself the world's best bad actor. That overworked tune "Sidewalks of New York" again. Another Lefcourt building. He used to be a Broadway newsboy. Most everybody has to stop to look at a map in a window. First orange, then pineapple and now coconut drink stands. Winter Garden goes "Al Jolson" again.

Karl K. Kitchen, a Cleveland boy, who made good in the city. Rarely see a skyscriter any more. John Roach Straton, New York's nattiest dressed minister. Elmer Davis, the new editorial writer for Life. Old ladies in dull silks who sit in hotel lobbies dreaming.

Helena Rubinstein, the penniless Polish girl who made millions out of beauty lotions. Those tousled youths with long sideburns who try to be arty but have to be "in trade" just the same. Marked down barbing suits—winter is here, and ain't I glad?

Dress shops where the customer is called "Madam." The Laligue glass craze. A blue Chow. Archery has become another vogue. Jefferson Machamer, the cartoonist, who is also "Judge, Jr." Sleepy-eyed firemen going through town in flying wagons putting on their coats.

There is not the slightest good reason for a "whispering campaign" this year. There is no reason for a whispering campaign any year. Issues should be talked about freely and openly. Candidates should be discussed in full voice. Whether a man's religious belief is an issue or not, there is no reason for whispering about it, for being mysterious about it. If it weighs with you, why be ashamed to admit it? If we think the type of a man's creed is sufficient reason for voting against him we ought at least to have the courage to say so. We ought all to be ashamed to whisper about anything we don't dare give voice to.

One reads that the Ohio Federation of Labor is pledged to help striking miners as the winter approaches. What a sad reflection on the general intellectual level of the times is to be found in the apparent inability of coal miners and coal mine owners to agree on wages and hours that are fair. Why this childish persistence in fighting a year-in and year-out battle?

"Fire away," said Morgan. "You're entitled to information generally."

"Step on it," he said. "We've got a race on our hands."

"A race?" said Morgan. "What do you mean?"

"Why, that's what it looks like," said Jim. "Those fellows are trying to get away from us."

"Good Lord!" said Morgan. "Then we've got to do something about it. I'm not going to be robbed of my property without a struggle. Can't you get more speed out of the car?"

"I'm doing the best I can," said Jim. "She's a powerful car, but she's not built for speed. She's a touring car, and not a racer. I'm afraid we're going to lose them."

"Not if I can help it," said Morgan. "Can't you get more speed out of her?"

"I'll try," said Jim. "Hold on!"

The car leaped forward as Jim threw open the throttle. Morgan was thrown violently back against the cushions of the tonneau, and for a few minutes he was unable to move. He could only hold on and wait for the end.

Precisely. But—who knew it? Do you? I haven't told a soul, and, now that I've told you, I don't see why I should. I'm not sure that I think it's a little early for you to tell me. I'm not sure that I have to thank you for this confidence. I called upon you to interfere officially."

"Said Morgan. "You're right. I doubt if I could have done it had I been doing so just as a private citizen. I'm in for the thing, and glad to be in for it."

SOCIALIST LEADER VISITOR IN MARION

Two Old Parties Have "Interchangeable Platforms," Thomas Says

affairs and campaign issues fluently, speaking with such rapidity that it is difficult for an interpreter to follow him.

As expressed in present day parlance, he "knows his stuff."

No Issues, He Says

As far as issues are concerned, there are none in this campaign when the two old parties are considered, Thomas declares. Platforms are interchangeable and the only difference is that the Democrats and Republicans have separate candidates, the Socialist nominee declares.

"What the country needs is a party representing a different point of view," Thomas says.

The Socialist candidate recently returned from a trip through the South and he says that there the campaign is based upon "one bigotry against another."

"The Republicans are trying to save the country against the Pope and the Democrats are trying to save it against the negro," he states. "To hear some people talk you would think that if Smith is elected the Pope will be in Washington within a few weeks."

Prohibition is not an issue, although it will have its effect on the vote this year, Thomas says.

No Solution in Sight

"There won't be much difference as far as prohibition is concerned, regardless of who is elected," the Socialist nominee states. "Hoover can't make the country politically dry and Smith can't make it wet. The prohibition problem will never be solved by parties and politics."

Thomas favors taking the question out of politics and having it decided by a nationwide referendum with parties pledged to make the decision effective.

Smith's proposal to handle prohibition through the states would mean a perplexing problem for generations, is the opinion expressed by Thomas.

"The church would have the law, the bootleggers the business and everybody with sufficient money would have the liquor," he declares.

"Coolidge prosperity" Thomas classes as "mostly stock market, and right at this time very dangerous."

"The United States is more prosperous than any other nation but not as prosperous as it should be," he declares. "We don't have the excuses for poverty that the other war-torn countries have. Yet we have a vast amount of poverty and unemployment."

Views on Farm Problem

The farm problem Thomas would solve through a federal marketing system worked in co-operation with farmers' organizations for the purpose of eliminating the numerous "middlemen."

The middleman is one of the chief causes of agriculture's difficulties, according to the view expressed by Thomas. The range between producer and consumer is far too great, Thomas also advocates adjustment of land values on the Henry George plan.

"Great farms, which have now been divorced by the other parties as one of the things at the bottom of farm difficulties," Thomas states, "the United States is the only civilized country which does not provide adequate protection for its tenant farmers."

He says that had he been in congress he would have voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, as did Victor Berger, the only Socialist in congress, but would have done so not because it could solve the problem.

"I would have voted for it merely to give the farmer a chance to 'get up to the table' with the rest of the nation's business," he states.

Tours Country

Since several weeks ago, Thomas has been touring the country speaking practically every day. The latter part of the campaign he will spend in the east. From Marion he will leave Saturday morning to speak in the Socialist stronghold at Milwaukee. Milwaukee has a Socialist mayor and Socialist congressman and the party hopes to take over the county government in this year's election.

The Socialist party is stronger than ever this year, although Thomas emphasizes the statement that he is making no prediction on the vote. The chief object in this campaign, he states, is to build up an organization for the future.

"The country's problems will be solved when a new party comes into power, not necessarily the Socialist party but one different from either the Republican or Democratic," he said. He expresses confidence in the prediction that farmers and workers will form the new party in the not far distant future.

"At this time," Thomas says, "it is merely a case of big business insuring in two companies. Whether Republicans or Democrats are in power, it makes no difference."

Although declaring that he has no interest in whether Smith or Hoover wins, Thomas says that if he were a "betting man" he would bet on Hoover.

"I would be equally happy at either funeral," he states. He adds that he regards both Smith and Hoover as able men but believes that Smith is somewhat overestimated as a reformer.

Although the Socialist party has never been in power, it has achieved results, Thomas says. Welfare legislation adopted in New York, workmens' compensation in effect in many states, the old age pension movement and public ownership were all originated by the Socialist party, the presidential nominee declares.

Tonight's meeting at the Central Junior high auditorium is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

BLIND ORGANIST IS VISITOR HERE

Dr. Francis Richter Plays This Morning at Marion Theater

Dr. Francis Richter, blind organist from the Sigma theater, Lima, visited the Marion theater this morning to examine and play the new organ. Blind since the age of three, Dr. Richter is one of five orchestral organists in the United States. There is said to be only one other blind organist in the country. He is employed in a Milwaukee theater.

During three years which he spent studying in Vienna and Paris, Dr. Richter played in concerts throughout Europe, both on the organ and the piano. He is a university graduate.

Mrs. Richter sits beside her husband while he plays and gives him his "cues" to change the music. The first time a new picture is play the name of the second piece is necessary but after that, only the word "next" is needed. Dr. Richter remembering the numbers in their order, Mrs. Richter says.

All of Dr. Richter's music is written in the Braille system of raised letters for the blind. It is seldom necessary for Dr. Richter to play a number more than once in order to memorize it, Mrs. Richter states.

Dr. Richter is exceptionall well read. He does not confine himself to his art alone, but subscribes to and reads 16 Braille magazines monthly. His reading covers every phase of activity. His library is very extensive, covering all sorts of literature as well as musical compositions, Mrs. Richter says.

GIANT GERMAN ZEP OUT OVER ATLANTIC

the ship's wireless was silent, indicating heavy static conditions.

All the way from Lyons to Gibraltar the great air liner fought strong headwinds and sometimes her speed was reduced to a bare 50 miles an hour.

Out Over Mediterranean

After leaving Marseilles the Zeppelin drove out over the Mediterranean, passing the French and Spanish coasts and soaring over Barcelona at 6:30 p. m., Thursday, just after darkness had fallen.

The ship kept in touch with steamships continuously to receive weather bulletins except when static interfered.

The Zeppelin is proudly designated by the Germans as the "flying hotel."

It has a lounge which is also used as a dining room and which has a dance floor. This room is 15 feet long and 35 feet wide. Its general color is a soft, reddish, brown. Four big, slanting windows provide a good view of the scenery below. Doors and windows are of mahogany. The walls are covered with reddish silk tapestry and flower pattern and the roof is of wood. Four big tables, two couches and 20 upholstered chairs comprise the furniture.

It has five double berth state rooms, very much like the continental sleeping car compartments, with running hot and cold water, providing Pullman accommodations for 10 passengers.

Can Care for 50

On shorter trips which do not require sleeping accommodations, it can take 50 passengers comfortably.

An electric kitchen furnishes all that a pampered palate could desire. But the weight of the food and drinks allotted to each passenger is rationed at seven pounds per day.

Here is a day's meal schedule aboard the giantress:

Breakfast (between 8:30 and 9:30 a. m.) coffee or tea, eggs or sausages, buttered bread or toast.

Dinner (between 1 and 2 p. m.) soup, meat dish, vegetables, dessert, fruit, coffee.

Supper (between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m.) cold meats, coffee or tea, bread and butter.

Cannot Smoke

Whoever is not satisfied with this arrangement can order his meals a la carte and at any time, provided he observes his weight ration.

Selected wines, champagne and liquors will be taken along in sufficient quantities to last until America is reached. If any remains when the 12-mile limit is reached it will be dropped overboard.

Each passenger is permitted to have at least 10 pounds of baggage, some more.

There are no bath rooms on board and no one is allowed to smoke owing to the danger of igniting the gas.

Zep and Station in Communication

Washington, Oct. 12—Direct radio communication was established today between the Graf (Count) Zeppelin and the naval radio station at Arlington, Va.

At 9:35 a. m., Washington time, the navy received a message inquiring about weather conditions from Commander C. E. Rosendahl, the American observer aboard the Zeppelin.

It said:

"Request morning Atlantic synopsis, especially Madeira, Azores and Bermuda region."

At 9 o'clock a message to the Radio Corporation, picked up by the navy, declared the ship had passed over Madeira in the direction of the Azores.

The navy station is forwarding weather forecasts to the Zeppelin.

SLAUGHTER of the Chinese continues on a horrible scale. More than 200,000 have been butchered by Mohammedans engaged in a religious war. Missionaries describe the massacres as particularly brutal and cruel, every man, woman and child in the villages attacked being killed, property burned, villages obliterated.

That is not always the case in the nature of religious wars, most vicious and cruel. And to make it worse, Christians know that the Chinese gods and "All-Ah" in whose name the killing is done, have no existence.

SOUTH STILL SOLID, BELIEF OF SMITH

the Smith special will be routed to Nashville, the state capital, where a longer stop is intended before moving on into Louisville tomorrow for the only major speech of the week tomorrow night.

Governor Smith's tour of North Carolina, one of the states upon which the Republicans are figuring upon carrying out of the solid south this year, was one continuous ovation. Rarely has any candidate for any office been greeted by the tremendous crowds that came out to see the Democratic nominee.

Speaks in Raleigh

They saw plenty of the famous brown derby, but the beard little, for with the exception of Raleigh, Governor Smith adhered to his firm resolve not to be enticed into daytime, open-air speaking.

He got awa. with it everywhere, except Raleigh. There s' local committee, disregarding all the iron-bound instructions of the Smith management, whisked the governor to the auditorium where several thousand persons had gathered in anticipation of a speech. Sponsored by such distinguished North Carolinians as Gov. A. W. McLean and Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration, the governor could not disappoint his Raleigh audience, and he made a brief speech. The gist of it was that there was no sweeter music to his ears than the mingled strains of "Dixie" and "The Sidewalks of New York."

"I haven't found," he said, "that the people of Omaha were much different from the people of the Bronx, nor the people of Denver essentially different from those who call Brooklyn home. After all, we are all one big family and the only job we have is to find what is best for the greatest number."

MISS JONES HERE

Central Committeewoman Visits Local Republican Headquarters

The finance committee of the Republican county organization is to meet at headquarters tonight.

There will also be a meeting of the committeemen and election officials of the fifth ward at headquarters tonight, according to Avery M. Davis, chairman of the central committee.

NATIONAL MEET OF LEGION COMPLETED

Paul V. McNutt, Bloomington, Ind., Named National Commander

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 12—The hosts of the American Legion who were in attendance at the organization's tenth annual national convention here were on the way to their homes today. Not all of them, however for many have gone to border points and Mexico on tours arranged by the Legion. Others from the west coast have gone north and east for brief vacations. Quite a few have stayed over in San Antonio for the big air circus scheduled for today at the army flying fields here.

With the exception of reaffirming itself in support of rehabilitation, child welfare, universal draft and aeronautics, this year's sessions were not of great moment. There were no fights of any importance, either in the committees or on the floor. The rumors that the aeronautics committee had a fight on its hands and prospects for a minority report with a floor fight seemed plausible two days ago. However, when the committee made its report to the convention utmost harmony prevailed and George E. Love, of Oregon, chairman of the committee, wore a broad smile while asking the adoption of the report.

Paul V. McNutt, of Bloomington, Ind., dean of the law school of the University of Indiana, was elected national commander at the closing session yesterday. The convention for the first time in its history elected a Jewish rabbi as its national chaplain. He is Rabbi Herman J. Beck, of Pottsville, Penn.

John P. "Chick" Comy, of Fargo, N. D., was elected chef de chemin de fer of the forty and eight.

ATTEND MEETING

About 15 representatives of Central Christian church attended the annual tri-county conclave of Christian churches of Marion, Crawford and Morrow counties yesterday at Bucyrus.

With the verdict of Coroner Wilkin, Sheriff Donnelith announced that he had released J. B. Littler, 60, who was arrested pending investigations into Keaser's death.

BARNSTORMING

Babe and Lou Start Mid-West Tour

New York, Oct. 12—Baseball fans who did not go to the world's series will get a chance to see Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig stunt their home run stuff starting today, when the home run twins of the champion New York Yankees begin a barnstorming tour of the east and middle west. After today's game at Brooklyn the sluggers will go to Syracuse tomorrow and thence to Montreal.

Last year Gehrig made more money in two weeks of barnstorming than he did during the entire season with the Yankees.

Meanwhile Ben Paschal and Tony Lazzeri will enter a hospital here tonight for operations. Benny Bengough is going hunting in Canada and most of the other Yankees will take brief pleasure jaunts before returning to their homes.

HOLD YOUTH AFTER COMPANION DROWNS

Confesses That He Pushed Playmate into Canal, Police Say

Akron, Oct. 12—A 13 year old boy was held today by police authorities after confession that he pushed a 10 year old playmate to his death in a Ohio canal here last Sunday.

Found by police early today after he had run away from home, the boy sobbingly told the story of the tragedy. He and Harvey Albaught, 10, were playing on the bank of the canal when he accidentally pushed his companion in, he said. The lad was drowned.

Another boy, who was playing with the two, says, however, that the 13 year-old culprit also tried to push him into the canal, now Chief McDonnell.

The accused boy, whose name was withheld by police, disappeared Tuesday night after bearing a farewell note to his mother.

The note read, "Dear Mother: I pushed a boy in the canal and he drowned. I am going away but will be back some day."

BOYS WILL PRESENT PAGEANT AT PROSPECT

Prospect, Oct. 12—A pantomime, "Mother's Prayer," will be given at the Methodist church Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, instead of the regular service. The pastor, Rev. C. W. Saltzback, will be the speaker, and will be assisted by the boys of the Orion Lindley class.

WOMEN DEAL IN DOGS

Since the craze for dog racing has spread in England many women of title have taken up the rearing, buying and selling of canines. At a recent large sale in London many women figured as buyers and sellers of greyhounds. Lady Chesham disposed of two dogs for $400, and another woman purchased three, including a puppy, for $365. At the Mecanrle Kennels, in Buckinghamshire, girl students are proving in many ways more successful with the highly nervous greyhounds than men. One successful woman student has just opened boarding kennels where she will train racers for their owners.

SURGEON PERFORMS OPERATION ON SELF

Appendix Removed and Shock Studied; Local Anesthetic Used

Los Angeles, Oct. 12—One of the most amazing surgical operations ever performed stood revealed today with the announcement that Dr. Robert Meals, young Hollywood surgeon, has successfully removed his own appendix.

The operation was performed at noon Monday, in a Los Angeles hospital. Dr. Meals is today well on the way to recovery.

Fully conscious, he lay propped up with pillows on an ordinary operating table. The part of his outfit only slightly dulled by a local anesthetic. Dr. Meals opened his abdomen, removed the inflamed appendix, and closed and sewed the wound.

The only assistance he received was rendered by his friend, Dr. J. Norton Nichols, who helped locate and loosen the appendix from adhesions. This was necessitated by the unusual position of the appendix—so high and far back in the abdomen that Dr. Meals, in his awkward position, was simply unable physically to do this part of the work himself.

Has Few Precedents

Self-appendectomy has been performed only two or three times before in medical history.

Reluctant for ethical reasons, to discuss the operation, Dr. Meals nevertheless admitted today that it had taken place. Officials of the hospital corroborated the report.

It was learned that Dr. Meals was rescued by two other Los Angeles hospitals, whose ethics prevent them from operating on themselves in their own behalf cases. The acquisition of the third was secured only after the greatest secrecy.

"My purpose in performing the operation was to study my own reactions and to confirm my own belief that the 'shock' patients suffer from operations is largely due to anesthesia rather the operation itself," explained Dr. Meals.

This was corroborated in a great measure by his own quick recovery and his condition since the operation, the surgeon believes.

ISLAND MOUNTAIN TIP

That Easter Island, in the middle of the Pacific ocean, is the tip of a mountain peak, and is all that is left of a once thriving inland continent, which sank beneath the waves ages ago is the declaration of a French oceanographer who has just completed a study of the desolate spot. He adds that this highest peak was probably the site of a temple before it was swallowed by the sea in one of the world's most frightful tragedies. Ruins of vast buildings, statues, some of which are huge forms of faces staring out to sea, and other signs of a once prosperous civilization were also found.

National Grange Master Speaks at Kenton Republican Rally

NEED BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

L. J. Taber Discusses National and State Problems at Exposition

MOUSER SPEAKS

Columbus Day Program a Feature of Celebration Today

Kenton, Oct. 12—"Solution of the farmers' problems is dependent upon organization and on wise National legislation," L. J. Taber, national grange master and former Director of Agriculture for Ohio, declared in addressing the Hardin County Republican rally held Thursday night in connection with the Industrial and Agricultural exposition under way here.

Increased protective tariff schedules on many basic farm commodities and the organization of a federal farm board to give to agriculture the same assistance and direction that the federal reserve board gives to finance, were given by the speaker as two of the main features required for an adequate agricultural program.

The agricultural program will also require protective tariff for many articles now on the free list, he said. To meet this program we find that the Republican platform and Republican candidate, Herbert Hoover, are most nearly in accord with the needs as above outlined."

Words in Jeopardy.

Touching on state problems, Mr. Taber said "Ohio needs a business administration. The cost of government increases and certain branches of government are neglected. The interest and welfare of the wards of the state have been placed in jeopardy, as a recent frightful experience demonstrates. Our conservation and fish and game work have not gone forward as they should. Highway development has not kept pace with increased expenditures and the increased demands of the people." His address carried a strong endorsement for both Hoover and Cooper.

Featuring the rally program was the appearance of Ohio Northern's all-Ohio band, directed by Michael Mazzella. Preceding the meeting they paraded in the uptown district. The Kenton high school mixed chorus also appeared under the supervision of Prof. Owen Roberts.

G. E. Mouser, Jr., Speaks

Another outstanding speaker of the evening was Grant Mouser, Jr., Marion, Republican candidate for election as congressman from the Eighth Congressional district. In his address he lauded both the national and state tickets and their respective platforms.

Discussing farm relief he declared "no one to the farmer some solution to bring the prices up to the cost of production." Referring to Governor Al Smith's stand, he declared that immigration bars should be kept where they are now and not thrown down, increasing the flow of undesirable emigrants into America.

"We must preserve America for Americans and for those who will assimilate themselves to preserve the institutions of our government and country."

Mrs. Wilson Sinclair Le Van, Steubenville, former Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, also spoke, sounding a plea for every citizen to vote in the coming election.

A Columbus Day program is being presented this afternoon and evening at the Hardin county exposition which closes Saturday night.

JUNIOR CLUB MEMBERS PLAN SOCIAL SERIES

Bucyrus, Oct. 12—About 70 guests were present at the benefit bridge party held at St. James Episcopal Parish house, Wednesday night, under the auspices of the St. James Junior club, which was recently organized for the purpose of sponsoring affairs which will afford entertainment and at the same time fund financial aid to the church.

The awards for high scores were won by C. B. Sharer, and Mrs. Joseph Reber. George Sherer was presented the consolation award. The high five hundred score was awarded to Mrs. O Conner.

Refreshments were served by the committee composed of Misses Dorothy Stoltz, Esther Reber, Elizabeth McDonnnold Watts, Charlotte Monnette and Mrs. Leon Glossey, Mrs H. G. Trelawney and Mrs. Paul Dice.

A series of parish house parties for the church members and friends have been planned by the club, of which Miss Charlotte Monnett is social chairman. The next social function will be an old-fashioned party to be held Hallowe'en night at the parish house.

Galion Masonic Chapter Celebrates Anniversary With Dinner and Program

Judge Jaames B. Ruhl, Past Grand Master, Addresses Assembly on Subject, "The Need of the Nation"

GALION, Oct. 12—A memorable event in the history of the Galion chapter, No. 142 of Royal Arch Masons was the golden anniversary which was elaborately celebrated yesterday. With the activities beginning at 3 o'clock in the afternoon an interesting program continued throughout the day with a large crowd of members of the organization and ladies of Naomi chapter of the Eastern Star in attendance. The entire affair was under the direction of D. Carl Hocker, high priest, who was directly responsible for the success of the anniversary services.

Assembling in the lodge room for the opening session the members of the order saw the conferring of the Mark Master and and Past Masters degrees by officers of the chapter.

Attend Banquet

At 6 o'clock the entire assemblage gathered in the banquet hall which was beautifully decorated in flowers of the season and colors of the order, for the four course dinner which was served. During the dinner a group of high school musicians, under the direction of James Ackerman, furnished groups of selections appropriate to the occasion.

Immediately following the banquet the principal program of the day was given, with George Hornstein as toastmaster, cleverly introducing the participants. The harmony four, Lowell Ness, J. C. Peebles, Fred Kiddley and Fred Wilson sang a group of numbers as an opener and the first speaker to respond was one of the distinguished guests, Judge Carl Sperling, of Port Clinton, who gave an interesting talk.

Miss Doris Cook, of this city, was heard in a humorous reading a scene from the comedy success "The Patsy," and the address of the occasion followed given by Judge James B. Ruhl, of Cleveland, past Grand Master. The subject of Judge Ruhl's address was "The Need of the Nation" and proved a thoughtful and forceful message.

A social time followed and both Mrs. Sperling and Mrs. Ruhl were presented baskets of flowers as momentos of the occasion.

Honor Guest

W. H. Raymond, 84, the only charter member of the organization who is still enrolled on the actual membership list of the chapter was the guest of honor throughout the anniversary celebration, and enjoyed the sessions and program and was also a recipient of a gift of flowers from its lodge associates.

Committees arranging for the affair and working in co-operation with Mr. Hocker were program committee; G. A. Wilson, S. D. VanMeter and George Hornstein. Decorating committee, C. A. Koppe, L. C. Miller, Clyde Kunkel, A. J. Dixon, B. C. Mains. Reception, H. L. Bodley, A. D. Diamond, H. W. Cleland, J. E. Woodward Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cook and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Geer entertained the guests and acting hostesses at the affair were Mrs. C. A. Koppe, Mrs. A. D. Diamond, Mrs. H. L. Volk, Mrs. O. O. Ransdell and Mrs. Clifford Mains

SENATOR SPEAKS AT KIWANIS MEET

Alton H. Etling Talks on Lobbyists at Mt. Gilead Luncheon

POINTS DANGERS

Reproves Business Man for Lack of Interest in Candidates

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 12—"Lobbyists and Lobbying" was the topic chosen by Senator Alton H. Etling, of Greenville, in his address at the Kiwanis club here yesterday. Speaking to the club from the Moreen room of the Globe Hotel, he told them that lobbyists, who were registered, had beneficial influence on members of the legislature as well as dangerous influence.

He began his talk with a short discussion of the life of a senator stating the morning with opening the mail, going to committee meetings about nine where he usually is detained until 1 o'clock in the afternoon when the assembly meets. The assembly meeting may last a few hours or many hours.

Trend of Progress

Lobbyists as a whole are not dangerous as far as their work in the lobby is concerned as much as the work done outside of legislature and outside of the halls in which they must be registered. He said the most dangerous condition existed when certain candidates for the legislature were backed by the lobbyists who later attempted to fill committees with men favorable to them. He pointed out that this had often been done, and that the friendship and labor spent with a candidate by a lobbyist, really in disguise, was often used by the lobbyist to achieve his own ends.

He said the number of lobbyists and what bills they are advocating indicate the trend of advancement and progress. Citing example, he enumerated the increasing number of lobbyists in the interests of good roads, and laws for motor bus transportation. Some of the interest that employ several lobbyists now were not heard of in the legislature several years ago.

He told of the law passed in 1913, with a heavy penalty for violation, that required all lobbyists to register, pay a fee, and give an account of money received and spent while the legislature is in session.

He reprimanded the average business man and clubs, etc., for their lack of interest in candidates and the attitude taken by the. He stated that they should take an active interest in some candidate and give him the support and encouragement that would give them in return the same power the lobbyist secures in the guise of a friend, but which he uses to his own advantage.

STATE TO ASSIST IN IMPROVEMENT

Sum of $110,000 To Be Expended on Lincoln Highway in Wyandot County

This will make a completely paved strip through Wyandot county and has been made possible largely through the untiring efforts of the present board of county commissioner.

The new paving will consist of a four-foot strip of concrete on each side of the present road, over which will be placed a penitration macadam top. The four mile concrete section put in this year is 18 feet wide. The improved road next year will be 20 feet in width.

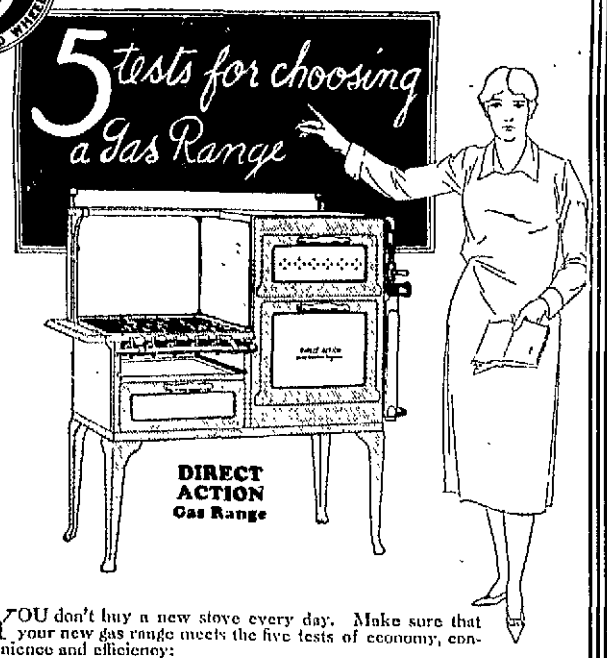
Unless the Range has a RED WHEEL it is NOT a LORAIN.



YOU don't buy a new stove every day. Make sure that your new gas range meets the five tests of economy, convenience and efficiency:

1. Does it have a gas-saving bottomless oven?
2. Is the broiler above the oven to save stooping?
3. Can you bake slowly and broil quickly at the same time?
4. Can you "stretch" the oven capacity for big bakings?
5. Does it have the Red Wheel of the genuine Lorain Self-regulating Oven?

Direct Action is the only gas range that meets all these tests. We'll be glad to show you. Come in and see the difference.

-o- The New Book -o-

By FRANCES JENNINGS

IT is with mingled surprise and disappointment that a reader of Louis Bromfield's stories turns from his latest contribution to contemporary fiction, "The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg."

In this new book Bromfield has assembled some four or five stories of unrelated character into what he has been pleased to term a novel. The connection in the stories and their various characters hinge on the life of an eccentric old maid, whose death has just occurred at the outset of the story.

Since his undisputed success with "Early Autumn," Bromfield has gradually deteriorated, falling from his secure foothold with the solid and sane writers of the day to that of the ordinary author, not too original, who craves a sensational basis for a story written primarily to startle the public and guarantee sales.

Evidence of Ability

Not that the book isn't cleverly written. It would require an artist to bundle together into what would safely pass for a novel five stories of such very different character.

In some respects the book reminds one of Thornton Wilder's "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," in which several equally unlike stories are woven into one complete novel. The trick of artificiality employed by both Wilder and Bromfield is by no means new. It traces its beginning to the earliest American fiction.

Interest in the new book no doubt centers on the story of Annie Spragg's origin, which tells of her father, Cyrus Spragg, the prophet, whose endeavors to serve God in his self-instituted religious cult are so strenuous that upon his death two of his sons "were not men enough to fill his shoes."

Leaves "Bad Taste"

You've heard of that unsatisfactory type of book which "leaves one with a bad taste in one's mouth" This new creation of Bromfield, unfortunately, enters that class. He has written a book about the spiritual and confined it far too often to the material. It is not pleasant reading and certainly has none of the superior qualities of even "A Good Woman" or the two books which preceded "Early Autumn," "Possession" and "The Green Bay Tree."

The characters, a mixture for which little, as a whole, can be said, include principally that pitiful individual, Miss Annie Spragg, an American-born princess in the years of her decline, a worldly priest, an English bachelor, a nun, a religious fanatic, and her long-suffering companion, and a prostitute.

While the new book has partially shattered one's faith in Louis Bromfield, looking back upon "Early Autumn" one can still hope that the next novel will compare more favorably with his early successes.

TWINS CONFUSE WITNESSES

When John and Edward Burns, 17 year-old twins, were recently tried for assault in Glasgow, Scotland, so close was their resemblance that witnesses were badly confused in their identifications. The twins were charged with being in a gang that assaulted M. Arthurs. The complainer declared that John had hit him, and a witness said that one of the brothers did it, but he could not say which one it was. A photograph labeled "The Peril Gang," which was found on Edward when he was arrested, was produced, and the Fiscal said that John was included in the company. Edward, however, asserted that the photograph was his property, and that he was included in the picture. John said he was present during the melee, but did not hit Arthurs, and that Edward was not there. The judge, with head awhirl, declared John guilty.

PUBLIC WHIPPINGS WANTED

Whether to restore the cat-o'-nine-tails punishment for perpetrators of serious crimes is being discussed by the city council of Armidale, Australia. The sentiment is strong for such treatment in an effort to stop the wave of raids by gangs of rowdies and of hemous crimes that has been strong in that part of the country. Success with the "cat" in New Zealand and of sterilization in the United States were mentioned at a recent council meeting.

It is much easier to form a new habit than it is to reform an old one.

Mrs. G. E. Waddell, who has a private kindergarten school at her home, South Prospect st., has been in charge of the nursery, assisted by six young girls who have a "knack" with children. Mrs. Waddell must not have a nerve in her system, judging from her patience with the youngsters. As it is, she pays no particular attention to any one child, going from one to the other, soothing a broken heart or urging a bashful child to join into the fun. There were some children left at the nursery who don't know how to mix with others, and it was to these that Mrs. Waddell gave most of her attention, so that they would enjoy themselves.

Although the nursery was a bedlam for perhaps 15 minutes after the mothers left, things soon quieted down and all was merry. The children were taught to play "Farmer in the Dell," "I See You," "London Bridge Is Falling Down," and numerous other games dear to childish hearts. Mrs. Waddell had transported a table from her school, together with blocks, strings for brightly colored beads and crayons and paper.

Lunch Hel's

In the course of the afternoon's pleasure a lunch of graham crackers, milk and apples was served, and all of these goodies helped to break the social ice.

One mother "bought" her son off so that he'd stay one day without crying, but apparently she forgot to do her "buying" the next day, for he had the lung power of a wailing soprano that afternoon. It's the little things like this that make the nursery such a study. The nurses don't know whether to laugh at the thought back of all the weeping, or whether to try to pacify the weeping child. It's all rather a complex matter running a nursery.

The babies that are just tiny tots ... arms are the real pleasure of the afternoon. They aren't old enough to wail ... and must be content until some ... standing heart eat comfort them.

The nursery is one ... principal reasons for the cooking school" success, for there was an average of 70 mothers each day who would not attend it were it not for the fact that there was a place where they ... leave their children for two hours without a crying about their welfare.

TOLEDO—After having downed Findlay college 47 to 0 in its opening game of the little Ohio conference season Toledo university a big experienced eleven is looking tomorrow's encounter with Mt Pleasant here as a part of the process of getting into condition for the crucial battle with Bowling Green next week Coach Pont Letcoff has not been taking the Mt. Pleasant team too lightly, however, and has drilled his men hard all week

CINCINNATI—St Xaviers last thing Musketeers will lay off tomorrow and will start right in again Monday to direct their full attention toward the Oglethorpe encounter next Saturday

DELAWARE—Coach George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan, is a very modest man we have been told He absolutely refuses to take the much deserved credit that friends admirers and students have been bestowing upon him for producing a team that beat Muskingum 17 to 7 being dealt to all praise and admiration the Ludlow mentor left for Cleveland this week just as though the team had lost the game and he was attempting to straighten out the rough spots

ALLIANCE—Not often does a coach find two brothers who play the game equally well as I are in the habit of playing side by side But John St Thorpe, head coach at Mount Union college has found a pair who loom as a sweet pair for his line this year The boys are Kenneth and Harold Shaver former Akron South stars Kenneth is playing his second season as a varsity end and Harold is be ginning his first year on the varsity tackle having starred on last years freshman team This pair is expected to make grid history for Mount this year and show promise of being as popular as the famous Armstrong brothers a few years ago

HIRAM—The Hiram college varsity with the memory of last weeks defeat by Wooster still fresh is determined to break into the win column tomorrow in the game with the Akron Zippers Akron smarting, from a close defeat by Oberlin has other ideas New plays have been developed by the Hiram gridders for their first home game of the season Bruno Urli on and out of last week's game because of illness will be able to play Lob Barr, quarterback and newly elected captain will lead the team for the first time

OBERLIN—Oberlin college is hopeful that its football team is beginning to take shape The team showed real promise in coming from behind to beat Akron last Saturday and though Wooster is conceded the edge in tomorrow's encounter here an upset is not unlikely

OXFORD—With George Vossler fullback Harry Richardson end and Robert Coleman, guard all watching the practice sessions from the sidelines Coach Pritser of Miami university has been frantically searching among his subs for competent men to fill the gaps in the first eleven for the initial Buckeye I A A game tomorrow with Denison at Granville The Big Red left today by bus for Granville, and it is not known who has been selected to fill the shoes of these stars

CLEVELAND—Western Reserve after running to 70 points on Kenyon last Saturday, is planning to do some more plain and fancy scoring in the suburbs of Berea tomorrow Whether or not Baldwin Wallace will prove as helpless and hopeless as the Gamblin gridders remains to be seen Case clashes with Mt Union here in a game which should prove interesting The Alliance team has already been beaten twice, but put a good game against the Michigan second team last week John Carroll with its record unmarred by a defeat this season goes to Grove City Pa for a game with an unknown quantity The Irish are confident, however

FINDLAY—Remembering the 20 to 6 defeat suffered at the hands of Adrian last year, Findlay college gridders are spending their time whipping a team into shape that may turn the tables on the Michiganders Hopes for a victory are not fruitless as Findlay scored nine points against the strong Toledo team last Saturday

WILBERFORCE—Coach Sears of Otterbein college is depending on sophomores to lead the way for the United Brethren for the remainder of the season as they have done so far this year in the three games played With few exceptions this season's stars have been new men Burke the big slugging fullback is the first stellar ball carrier of them all In last Saturday's fracas he romped at will against Baldwin Wallace scoring four touchdowns.

COLUMBUS—Capital college gridders seem to be possessed with the injury jinx again this year according to word received from the Capital camp Coach Jerry Leather man began this week's practice minus Hax quarterback Mocuch end Butler guard and High end However Capital's stock was boosted when Captain Al Kauber returned to the line up and it is hoped that Hax and Howden who has been out with injuries will be ready to go against Muskingum Saturday

OHIO STATE ELEVEN LEAVES FOR BATTLE AT NORTHWESTERN

Backfield of Buckeyes Changed Through Injuries to Kruskamp

COLUMBUS Oct. 12—Ohio State university's band of [illegible] warriors were enroute to Evanston Ill., today where they will tackle the pigskin representatives of North western university Saturday afternoon in the first Big Ten clash of the 1928 season

The Buckeye squad which left the Union station in Columbus at 11 20 o'clock last night following a huge student demonstration numbering 3, players in addition to Coach Jack Wilce and his assistants and managers A special train chartered by the team is expected to arrive at the battle field sometime late today

The squad was carried to the station last night in two large rally charter street cars followed by a parade of thousands of students and fans led by the Ohio State university band A large number of Ohio State rooters and the band will leave for Northwestern tonight

Owing to the injury of Harold Kruskamp fullback, the Ohio State backfield will be changed for the Northwestern fray, coaches stated today Kruskamp sustained an in jury to his knee in practice Wednesday after a game uphill rally [illegible] kind of an outfit, regardless of what it might have been a few weeks ago simply doesn't figure to repeat now and everybody on the basis books it. Almost any head can be [illegible] effected without astounding the populace

It may be somewhat surprising that a club which won so readily as the Yankees can contemplate [illegible] renovations additions and substitutions, however, but the Yanks know too that they won with two [illegible] and not nine The other seven will there mostly on guest privileges and if they stay much longer they will be in danger of imposing on someone's hospitality

YANKEES, CARDS TO BE CHANGED

Two World Series Contenders Will Be Radically Different Ball Clubs When Spring Training Opens Next Year

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK Oct 12— Neither the World series club that almost finished third in a field of two for the one that equalled par for the course with four straight victories will be quite the same when next appears in public in the spring No one yet knows who will get the contract for alterations in the St Louis Cardinals but it is understood that sealed bids are being received It is inevitable that changes will be effected, if only on the theory that a change might be for the better since the likelihood of it being for the worse is as something of a minimum

The Cards as a ball club were good enough to win the National league championship but were so bad in the series as to indicate that they might have won from New Canaan

Cory or McClure will start in Kruskamp's fullback [illegible] Lobe and Coffee are [illegible] to occupy the half back positions and Holman will play at quarterback The line will be practically the same as the forward wall which played against Wittenberg last Saturday After Lobe will replace Feehr at left end will be the only change The opposite wing berth will be taken by Surina Raskowski and Perkins tackle Chelyk and Young guards, and Barratt center

The remainder of the buck squad leaving for Northwestern last night included Kesler Horn Ills John Nesser Yingling Selby Griffith Glasser Dill O'Connell Enoch Huston Hieronymous Carter Reichelet Cox William Nesser Hess Kress and Kruskamp

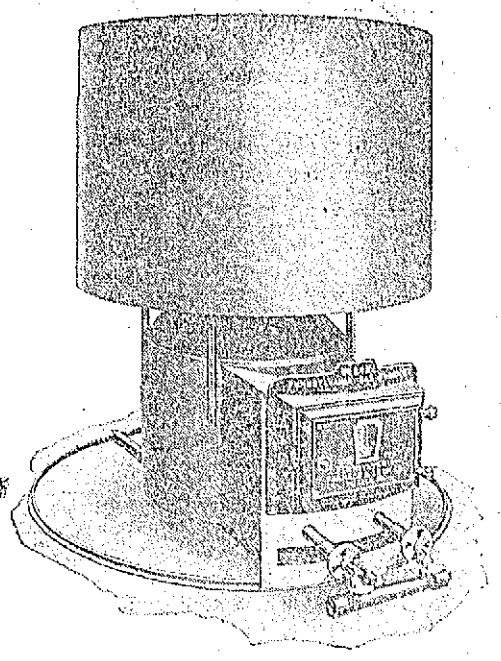
The Pennsylvania Gas Furnace Will Heat Your Home Comfortably and Economically

Nearly every home uses gas for cooking and heating water. If you were asked to substitute coal, wood or oil for this purpose, you would be seriously inconvenienced. No other fuel can take the place of gas.

Do you know that you can heat your home with the same ease by using gas. It will be expensive if you cling to your old coal furnace, but you need not do that.



THE PENNSYLVANIA GAS FURNACE is built to use gas fuel. Long fire travel, a multitude of heating tubes in the radiator, larger radiating surface with special burners and mixers are features not found in other furnaces. These make it possible for you to burn gas economically.

The design of the PENNSYLVANIA is such that no part becomes red hot. The result is pure warm air and long life of the furnace.

It Furnishes You:

A full supply of pure warm air.
Absolutely uniform temperature night or day.
A heated house while away from home.
A dependable service with all drudgery removed.
A modern necessity for home.

The Use of the Pennsylvania Gas Furnace Eliminates:

Coal storage.
Handling of ashes.
Cleaning of Chimneys.
Repairing of burned grates.
All soot and dirt in the home.
Entire freedom from firing and attention.

A Bit of Candy Philosophy on a Candy Day Occasion

Are YOU a Judge of good candy?

When you bite into a piece of candy are you able to tell whether it is pure and fresh "honest-to-goodness" candy or conglomoration of all kinds of substitutes? And do you know that you cannot use pure creamery butter, or milk solids and cream and keep in good condition very long, unless doctored?

Our candies are made in our own sanitary shops and of the purest and best of materials that money can buy.

When you buy TENDER'S make candies you are getting, sugar, corn sugar, pure cream, milk evaporated, milk solids, pure creamery butter, wholesome nuts of every kind, chocolate products with that natural Cocoa Butter in them, so beneficial to our systems, egg whites the freshest kind too, fruits of all kinds and descriptions, pure and wholesome flavors, and so many other goodies, converted in the most gorgeous looking and delicious in taste confection. No effort has been spared to improve every piece of candy, and if a new creation other than what we already make is placed in the market by any honest to goodness confectionery manufacturer our efficient candy makers will make and improve the quality of it if possible, for we pride ourselves for the best and not the cheapest

Here is a proof of our superiority on candies at a greatly reduced price just to acquaint everybody on the merit of our Candy.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

If you were one of the few who did not attend this cooking school, it is not too late to learn how Calumet simplifies baking and improves foods. Try it. The Double Action of Calumet provides proper leavening force and gives you dependable baking protection.

Here's that Simplified Recipe for Cream Puffs

That's Making Even Brides Famous as Cooks

Mixing Time—Less Than 5 Minutes!

Mrs Frank Johnson a bride of last June seems quite pleased with her prize Cream Puff baking

This Week's Prize "Kitchen-tested" Recipe

Whether you're a bride of a month or a wife of years, try this prize recipe in the new, Simplified Baking Of 238 women who first tried it, 2dd had perfect results first time The two who failed blamed wrong oven temperature.

By the development of an utterly new type of flour—Gold Medal "Kitchen tested" Flour—baking has been simplified amazingly for housewives And the cause of most baking disappointments banished

"Kitchen tested" means that every batch of this flour has been tested in a kitchen, at the mill, in an oven just like yours, before it goes to you Tested for uniformity of result with home recipes

That means a flour that acts the same way EVERY TIME with your recipes Most flour varies greatly Different makes of other brands often acting, as you know, entirely different in your oven That's where over 60% of all baking disappointments come in

Now special "Kitchen tested" recipes, too, have been developed The recipe thus fits the flour exactly And the flour fits the recipe exactly So you get EXACT results every time

To use this combination is a revelation in easier, simpler baking But you must use "Kitchen tested" Flour Ask your grocer for GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen tested" Flour The words "Kitchen tested" are on every sack Get that brand of flour before you try this recipe.

Because Necessity Demands the Best

COMMANDER BYRD selects Armour's STAR HAM and STAR BACON

Vital among the health protecting, nourishing, energy producing foods that will sustain Commander Byrd and his daring associates in their Antarctic explorations are Armour's Star Ham and Star Bacon.

In the balanced diet that makes for vigorous men, Ham and Bacon are essential. They satisfy and nourish.

They are served from four to five times a week and because they are served so often, to avoid monotony the flavor must be the superlative—enticing, far beyond the flavor of ordinary ham and bacon.

So the Hams and Bacon must be the best They must be good to the taste of those men who face the rigors of the Antarctic They must have keeping qualities, for once in the Antarctic there is no convenient store at which supplies can be replenished.

Necessity demands the best! So Commander Byrd selects Armour's Star Ham and Star Bacon. He knows and relies upon them.

Commander Byrd has proved the quality of Armour's Star Ham and Star Bacon. With him they went on his history making expedition to the North Pole. Now they go to the South Pole. Good food of dependable quality is a necessity The name "Armour" on a food product is an absolute assurance of quality.

You can get the same good Ham and Bacon very easily Just ask your dealer for "Armour's Star" Insist on getting it.

and what Mrs. Johnston found out about the taste of cooking fats!

"WHEN I first saw the Crisco advertisement which said, 'Taste your Cooking Fat,'" wrote Mrs. W. L. Johnston, "I, being a woman and curious, opened the Crisco can and took a very little upon a spoon. I received such a surprise—and such a pleasant one! No wonder my biscuits, pies and cakes are so much better since I have been using this pleasant, sweet tasting shortening, Crisco."

Have you yourself ever tasted Crisco? Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon, on the tip of another a little of any other shortening. Taste first Crisco, then the other fat. Isn't the difference astonishing?

Crisco will make just as much improvement in your cooking results as its sweet, fresh taste would lead you to expect. Just try the recipes given below and you'll know exactly what we mean.

Whole Wheat Biscuits (Rolled)

with or without raisins

Use one cup whole wheat flour in place of 1 cup bread flour. Add ½ cup Sultana Raisins before adding milk.

Lemon or Orange Tea Biscuits

(Dropped or Rolled)

Stir in 1 teaspoon grated rind before adding milk.

Maple Nut Biscuits

(Rolled)

Roll dough ¾ inch thick, spread with ½ cup shaved maple sugar mixed with 3 tablespoons Crisco. Roll and cut as for cheese biscuits. Line pan sprinkle maple sugar over each and bake with ½ walnut in center.

Peanut Biscuits

(Rolled)

Sift 1 tablespoon sugar with dry ingredients. Beat two eggs, add enough milk to make ½ cup. Stir in ½ cup chopped peanuts before adding milk.

Master Recipe

for both "Drop" and "Rolled" Biscuits

2 cups bread flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons Crisco
¾ cup milk or water (for "drop" biscuits) or
⅔ cup milk or water (for "rolled" biscuits)

Sift dry ingredients together 3 times. Work Crisco in with fork. Add liquid gradually.

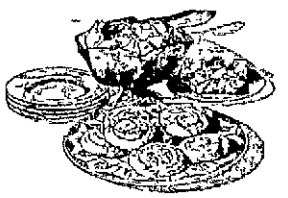
FOR 'DROP' (Emergency) BISCUITS drop by spoonfuls on Crisco-ed baking pan. Brush top of biscuits with melted Crisco or milk. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

FOR ROLLED BISCUITS form dough into shape, roll ½ inch thick, cut. For scone-shaped biscuits, cut squares, then diagonally in half. Brush top of biscuits with melted Crisco or milk. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 12 biscuits.

To use buttermilk or sour milk beat in ¼ teaspoon soda for each cup of milk. (If milk is very thick use a little more milk.) Use same amount of baking powder and follow method for either 'drop' or 'rolled' biscuits.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL

All recipes on this page tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.



Cheese Rolls (Rolled)

Delicious for soups and salads

Roll dough ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle with about ¾ cup (grated) cheese. Roll as you would jelly roll. Cut slices ¾ inches thick, lay in Crisco-ed pan cut side down.

Delicious Raisin Biscuits

(Rolled)

Sift ¼ cup sugar with dry ingredients. Beat one egg, add enough more milk to make ¾ cup. Stir in ½ cup chopped raisins before adding milk.

Date Biscuits

(Rolled)

Follow recipe for Peanut Biscuits omitting nuts. Roll thin, cut in rounds, put stoned date in center, wet edges, fold over, press together.

Cheese Biscuits

(Dropped or Rolled)

Stir in ½ cup grated cheese before adding milk.

You taste your milk . . .
You test your eggs . . . .
NOW—taste your shortening

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

...try and reported warrings against the prevailing of stock values, the market rushed ahead at a breakneck pace this past week, numerous speculative favorites scoring new high price records for all time.

The gradual increase of freight car loadings on the American railroads is a favorable commentary on the movement of goods in domestic commerce. Loadings are now close to a million and a quarter cars per week, an increase of 100,000 cars weekly from the same period last year. Important developments are now pending in the railroad consolidation field attention to which has been sharply drawn by the acquisition this week of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh road by the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Shipments of fresh garden truck are now in transit to Marion, local retail produce dealers reported this morning. The fresh stocks have not arrived, but are expected to reach wholesalers here late today, or early Saturday.
Chickens took a decided drop in price here this morning. Wholesale prices on chickens showed a marked decline Tuesday as a result of quiet sales on Cleveland wholesale markets and large shipments arriving there from the West. Prices of dressed chickens dropped from 32 to 40 cents a pound to 28 to 32 cents.
Spinach was a new arrival on local markets this morning, selling at 20 cents a pound. Minced ham dropped from 30 cents to 25 cents a pound.
All varieties of garden truck are expected to arrive in the shipments reported to be on the way here. The new stocks are expected to be the best obtainable but prices will be very high, retailers say.
Sales yesterday and all this week have been light, dealers report.
Although retailers expected a drop in the prices of fruits as a result of warm weather, none developed. Wholesalers threw fruit away here rather than sell it at reduced prices, retailers report.

Grain Market

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 12—Grain shook off the bear poison yesterday and in the face of selling before the holiday today slowly advanced for small gains during the session. The extent of the gains was not much, but the action of the markets was impressive.
At the close wheat was up 3.8@3 3-4c; corn was 3-8@1-2c higher; oats were unchanged to 1-8c lower; rye was unchanged to 3-8c higher.
The opening was a shade under the previous closing prices for both wheat and corn, but the low points for the session were touched immediately. That bottom was adamant and although several times prices seemed to threaten breaking through it, they could not do that.
A curious thing worth careful consideration is the fact that the open interest in the wheat and corn markets did not decrease on Wednesday's break, as one might have supposed would have been the case, and as almost certainly would have occurred if there had been liquidation of long holdings.

Short Interest Increases

On the contrary, the open interests increased decidedly—by several million bushels—in both markets. The morning of this can be only one thing. That the break on Wednesday was, as suggested here, caused by bear raiding and not by longs selling out.
Short selling pounded the market downward, but increased buying power took the offerings and thus increased the open interest.
The result of this is likely to be the driving of shorts to cover again if wheat and corn work higher toward their tops of the last time up. The nearer their price levels come to these, the more the markets will become oversold.
The strength in wheat is surprising to almost every old time professional on the Board of Trade. Few of them can see how it is possible to carry the load put upon the market by hedging of the enormous yield.
But stranger things have happened in grain speculation before. Certainly the short side of the wheat market when such persistent support repeatedly develops looks to me exceedingly dangerous at the present level.

Corn Looks Strong

So far as corn is concerned, that grain looks to be in a very bullish position. If the market advances from here, as seems highly probable to me, it may become tighter and tighter as it goes up. Corn is due for a very considerable advance that will take the price up to heights that will astonish bears.
The market seemed to be in a technical condition at the close that will require little impetus to get it under way on the upgrade. A shift in the weather may be enough to give it the necessary start on Saturday.

Rye, also looked as if it might be in a position attractive to purchasers once more. This grain ought to emphasize with a greater upturn surprise in wheat. Rye has been overlooked by most speculators.
In the cash market wheat was steady; corn was unchanged to 3c higher; oats was unchanged to 1-2c off; rye was firm; barley was steady.

CONFESSED SLAYER OF WIFE IS VICTIM

Dies in Hospital from Poison After Being Indicted by Jury

Ravenna, Oct. 12—Carl Eschinger, 62, who confessed to one of the most shocking murders in Portage county history, was dead here today, apparently poisoned.
Eschinger, a farmer, of Mantua, confessed a week ago that he had pushed his wife down a flight of stairs after a quarrel, killing her, and then poured kerosene on her clothing and set it afire.
He had made attempts at suicide. Relatives put him down when he tried to hang himself. He then shot himself, but suffered only a slight wound.
After he had confessed to killing his wife, a special grand jury indicted him for first degree murder. He pleaded not guilty and was held in the county jail. Wednesday he became violently ill, was removed to a hospital and died yesterday.
Coroner R. D. Worden has not yet made a formal report, but says that in his opinion Eschinger died of poison. Authorities are working on the theory that he took a slow poison before leaving his home last week.

POLICE TO DRIVE ON VANDALISM IN CITY

Plain Clothes Men To Be Put on Streets, Chief Thompson Promises

To stop the damage being done to homes, business places and street lights in the city by bands of children, plain clothes men will be put upon the streets to discover and arrest the vandals, Chief of Police J. W. Thompson announced today.
Reports of window glass and street lights broken by children having been coming in for some time and the nuisance has now reached such proportions that Chief Thompson believes radical methods are necessary in order to stop it.
No leniency will be shown the children found responsible for the damage, Thompson said. Without regard to age or sex they will be brought in and held for trial and will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, Chief Thompson said.
The sudden burst of damage of this nature coming just before Hallowe'en is one of the reasons for the drastic move taken by the police chief.

DAVEY FOR HONEST LAW ENFORCEMENT

Democratic Candidate Makes Stand In Statement at Columbus

Columbus, Oct. 12—"I am deeply and sincerely interested in the problem of home law enforcement," declared Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in a statement issued today from Democratic state headquarters.
"By this, I do not mean the petty and unimportant things, nor the casual and unhabitual violations of lesser seriousness." Davey continued. "I have in mind, particularly, that very small, but high y virulent, group which might be called the professional law breaking class—those who violate the laws for profit. They are, by their very nature, eternal enemies of society.
"I have a profound respect for the sanctity of the private home. It is only when a home is transformed into a public nuisance, or into a public place by deliberate violation of law, that government should ever cross its threshold, and then only under due process."
